LONDON, JUNE 1.

THE reaſon of Lord Bute's viſiting in haſte this kingdom again, is to obſtruct a Great Perſon's eyes from being thoroughly opened, who, it is ſaid, begins to perceive the danger of purſuing any further the arbitrary plan hitherto adopted; and that a new Miniſtry, and a new Repreſentative, will be two of the happy conſequences of it, if they are not prevented by his Lordſhip's arrival.

A Scotch Nobleman, well known upon the turf, is ſaid not to ſpend leſs than 500l. a year, at a fruit ſhop in St. James's ſtreet, to treat women of the town and kept miſtreſſes with.

The following droll affair happened on Friday laſt in High Holborn. Some wanton young men having tied an old broken chair to the tail of a large dog, turned him out into the ſtreet; away he run with great ſwiftneſs, and in his way the chair, by ſome means, catched hold of the gown of a very genteel dreſſed woman, and threw her down with great force; the dog being very ſtrong, and the chair holding in her gown, he drawed her a little way along the pavement and bruiſed her in ſeveral places. But this was not the worſt of the ſcene; the lady having had her hair dreſſed in the modern perpendicular taſte, the violence of the fall ſhook down this temporary monument to the very foundation, and great was the fall! The materials with which it was erected were as follows: A piece of black ſtocking ſtuffed with black wool, and made proportionable to the manner in which the hair was dreſſed; and on the outſide was hair very ingeniouſly worked into the ſtocking: Upon this ſurpriſing piece of work aniſhip was friz'd the lady's own hair, in order to raiſe the edifice. She being diſentangled, got up, and complained of being hurt a little, but took no notice of her piece of ornament for the head, which ſome boys had got hold of, kicking about the ſtreet as a foot ball.

JUNE 4. An amiable young married Lady, juſtly admired for her merit and beauty, without being poſſeſſed by the fiend jealouſy (though the preſent and paſt turpitude of her deluded inconſtant Marito might have alarmed her feelings) accidentally went into her Lord's dreſſing-room to ſpeak to him before dinner; he being abſent, in throwing her eyes round the room, ſhe ſaw a letter, ſealed and directed, on the table, inſtigated by a natural female impulſe, curioſity, ſhe glanced over the addreſs, which proving to be a handſome actreſs (no leſs celebrated for her performance in public, than ſhe is in private) ſhe broke the ſeal, and reading, was convinced by the contents, that [illegible] perſonal, the following [illegible] a love part) Hurt, and ſurpriſed, while the ſtarting tear filled her charmant papier, ſhe ſaw a caſſette, which, on opening, contained a magnificent brilliant diamond necklace, deſtined for the unworthy rival! The firſt impulſe of grief being relieved by a flood of pearly drops, recollection returned; ſeeing and laying hold of the opportunity tacitly to reproach her huſband, her Lydyſhip put the intended preſent on her fair neck, and deſcended to dinner, where it happened her Lord was ſurrounded with gueſts of both ſex.---His confuſion at the ſight of the late addition to his cara ſpoſa's diamonds may be eaſier imagined than expreſſed: The repaſt ended, which was in the higheſt degree a boar (a Maccaroni cant term for every thing diſagreeable) to his Lordſhip, ſhe retired: explanation followed; good ſenſe, and angelic forgiveneſs on her ſide, made him aſhamed, and contrite; reconciliation, in the way moſt expreſſive, was the immediate conſequence; and that evening, they appeared at Ranelagh arm-and-arm, like new-married turtles, ſhe with a dove-like innocence, and he with the ſeeming meekneſs of a lamb.

A correſpondent ſays, it ſeems at preſent a difficult matter to determine what a libel is in law, therefore gives his opinion what a libel is in common ſenſe, juſtice, or equity: The publication of things to the diſreputation of any perſon, without proof, or a proper evidence to ſupport it, is a libel. It would (ſays he) be endleſs to reckon up the places, or point out the pages where ſuch things are ſaid of the Royal family and Miniſtry, or where the moſt ſcandalous and infamous things are plainly ſaid or as plainly intimated, of the government, without the leaſt proof, or evidence to ſupport them.

A correſpondent has ſent us the charges of a cauſe on an arreſt, in the 4th and 5th years of Philip and Mary, Anno 1557.

A Correſpondent ſays, ſome people may talk of changes as much as they pleaſe, but that the people may be aſſured no change will take place but what is conducive to the practice of politicks which has ſo long diſtinguiſhed our preſent worthy Miniſtry.

A lady has lately finiſhed, a portrait of his Majeſty, in needle work, allowed by the connoiſſeurs to be the greateſt curioſity ever ſeen of the kind, being the cloſeſt likeneſs of his Majeſty, and ſo highly finiſhed, that it has all the ſoftneſs and effect of painting.

JUNE 5. A correſpondent obſerves, "That as Mr. Wilkes once ſerved the office of high Sheriff for the county of Bucks by the King's nomination, when not diſtinguiſhed for public ſervices or virtues, and when all his ſins perhaps were freſh on his head; there may be at leaſt equal propriety in his being now choſen by the people to that office for the city of London and county of Middleſex, when he has candidly acknowledged his paſt errors, and, by his late conduct, appears at leaſt determined to renounce them and to lead a more regular and exemplary life. Go thou, moſt worthy and righteous Parſon Horne, and do likewiſe."

Thurſday General Paoli was at court, and moſt graciouſly received by his Majeſty.

The many inconveniencies attending the ſhipping of goods upon credit to America have induced ſome gentlemen of great commercial conſequence, on both ſides the Atlantic, to open a ready money plan of traffic, which is highly advantageous to each; as the Britiſh merchant, ſecure of his property, can afford to ſell upon moderate terms; and the American buyer, of courſe, finding a material reduction of price, muſt bring his caſh to market with a double degree of alacrity.

JUNE 6. A correſpondent ſays, he wiſhes what follows were the ſentiments of every individual in theſe realms: Let the illuſtrious and royal Houſe that hath been called to the government of theſe kingdoms, govern them till time ſhall be no more; but let the ſpirit, as well as the letter of the conſtitution they are entruſted to preſerve, be, as it ought to be, and as we promiſe ourſelves it will be, the ſole rule of their government, and the ſole ſupport of their power; and what happens in the various courſe of human contingencies, whatever be the fate of particular perſons of houſes, or families, let the liberties of Great-Britain be immortal.

His Majeſty's ſhip the Victory, built about four years ſince, is put into dock at Chatham, in order to repair; ſhe is reckoned to be the fineſt ſhip in Europe. Our correſpondent from the above place informs us, that all hands are as buſily employed as if a war was ſhortly approaching.

It is confidently reported, that Sir Edward Aſtley has received a letter from a gentleman at Paris, by which he is informed that the Chevalier D'Eon has been for ſome time in that city, and already enjoys, with many of his friends, a conſiderable ſhare in the adminiſtration.

JUNE 7. The following intelligence is authentic and come from the beſt authority: The beginning of laſt month, there arrived at the court of Madrid no fewer than ten expreſſes from Verſailles, in one day. The King was ſent for from his palace about twenty miles from Madrid, and the grand Council continued ſitting all day. The next morning a report was current throughout Madrid, that his Catholic Majeſty gave orders for fifteen thouſand infantry, and four thouſand horſe, to prepare themſelves for ſetting out for France with the utmoſt expedition, to prevent a revolution in that kingdom.

The laſt letters from Gibraltar inſinuate, that a Spaniſh camp was formed in the neighbourhood of La Roche, and that one M. Idivi, a French engineer in the Spaniſh ſervice, had declared that Gibraltar was not impregnable.

To the Rev. Mr. Horne. "AS to myſelf, the war I have waged with you has been a war of defence. The tediouſneſs of it is not my fault. I fear the public are at length heartily tired of us both, of your falſhoods and of my confutations. It is really time to retire, for with the grace of novelty almoſt every other recommendation to public favour is now loſt in the preſent diſpute. Another kind of buſineſs begins to demand my attention; buſineſs of a more important and intereſting nature. I therefore give you notice to finiſh your charges againſt me by the Wedneſday preceding Midſummer. Should your letters ſwell to Number Forty-five, no anſwer to any, which may be publiſhed after that day, ſhall be given by me to the Rev. Mr. Horne. I am, Sir, your humble Servant, JOHN WILKES"

JULY 14. SEVERAL ſtudents of Oxford and Cambridge, who intend entring into holy orders, preſent their moſt reſpectful compliments to the Rev. Mr. Horne, and deſire him to give them a hint which of the Biſhops it is that has got an infallible hand. As Mr. Horne has received ſo much injury by the fop given him, they hope, by his friendly advice, to eſcape the contagion; for rather than be afflicted with the black ſpot that he is, they are determined, to a man, to enter into partnerſhip, and keep a poulterers ſhop. If Mr. Horne will advance ſufficient arguments to prove, that it is almoſt impoſſible for them, at any rate if they come near a Biſhop, to avoid the black diſtemper, they will admit him into partnerſhip without a premium, and alſo depute him acting manager and conductor of the buſineſs.

Extract of a Letter from Paris.

"We are at preſent in ſuch confuſion at this capital, and indeed over all the kingdom, that the Miniſters of State are taking every precaution to prevent a civil war: gentlemen and eccleſiaſtics are ſent to the Baſtile by dozens; the new parliament dare not tranſact any buſineſs for fear of being arraigned by the old parliament; princes of the blood, and the greateſt part of the nobility, as an unlawful aſſembly; ſeveral of them being already threatened to be hanged up at their own doors. The country people from different provinces are ſo numerous in this city, that the judge of policy endeavoured to clear it of them, but to no purpoſe, becauſe they can find no bread nor money in the country; in ſhort, if proper meaſures are not ſpeedily adopted, this country will be one of the moſt miſerable in the world. Happy then that nation, whoſe liberties are preſerved ſacred and inviolable! there can be nothing wanting in it to make every thing lovely, and to flouriſh in it; their trade muſt be extenſive; their manufactures numerous; the people eaſy, contented, rich, brave; the governors happy, in governing reaſonable creatures in a reaſonable manner, and commanding what principle teaches to be fit and right. England is the nation where theſe effects are beſt underſtood, and moſt likely to be expected; and learn to commiſerate and pity almoſt all the world beſides!"

The late Lord Halifax, by his will, has deviſed his Northamptonſhire eſtates to his grandſon, ſon of Lord Hinchinbroke, together with the furniture and valuable pictures, as heir-looms: To Mr. Donaldſon, his Spitalfields eſtate for life, with the reverſion to Sir George Oſborn; and his northern eſtates are directed to be ſold for the diſcharge of his debts.

His Lordſhip has alſo left Stanſtead Park, and the eſtate thereto belonging, worth 90,000l. in truſt for Mrs. Donaldſon, and after her deceaſe for her daughter.

JUNE 15. We hear that the Privy Seal was offered to the Earl of Chatham, who nobly refuſed it, unleſs Lord Camden was reſtored, and the Parliament diſſolved.

This day the Right Hon. the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the city of London, waited upon his Majeſty; and being introduced, Sir James Hodges, Knt. Town Clerk, made their compliments in the following ADDRESS:

"Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

"WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal ſubjects, the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the city of London, in Common Council aſſembled, embrace this joyful occaſion of approaching your Majeſty with our ſincere congratulations on the ſafe delivery of the Queen, and the auſpicious birth of another Prince. Your Majeſty's ever royal and faithful citizens of London, exceeded by none of your ſubjects in honeſt and anxious zeal for your Majeſty's happineſs, and the glory and proſperity of your reign, rejoice in all events which augment your Majeſty's domeſtic felicity; firmly truſting that every increaſe of the auguſt houſe of Brunſwick will prove an additional ſecurity to our religion, and the great charter of liberty, which in conſequence of the glorious and neceſſary revolution that illuſtrious houſe was choſen to defend."

His MAJESTY'S ANSWER.

I thank you for this dutiful addreſs, and for your congratulations on the ſafe delivery of the Queen, and the birth of another Prince. It gives me great ſatisfaction to find that you conſider the increaſe of my family as an additional ſecurity to our religion, and to that liberty which I look upon with pleaſure as the baſis of my government, and which I ſhall always think my honour and intereſt concerned to defend.

In Mr. Horne's laſt letter appears the following ſentence:---- "Merely to be proteſted does not anſwer his (Mr. Wilkes's) expectations: Improbable as it may appear, he dreams of nothing leſs than of being himſelf PROTECTOR." To which Mr. Wilkes replies,----The dreams you mention about a Protector are thoſe of your own diſtempered brain, which if you have any regard for the world's opinion of your underſtanding, you ſhould not repeat. They are the ravings of a bedlamite. You were at my elbow on the 20*th of April,* 1768, when I declared before the Court of King's-Bench. I have been much miſrepreſented; but under every ſpecies of perſecution, I will remain firm and friendly to the monarchy, dutiful and affectionate to the illuſtrious Prince, who wears the crown, and to the whole Brunſwick Line.----I acknowledge a King in England, only according to the laws. They bound his prerogative and my allegiance. I dare now to ſet my name here to what the great Algernon Sydney wrote in Rome. 'My thoughts as to a King and ſtate depending upon their actions, no man ſhall be a more faithful ſervant to Him than I, if he makes the good and proſperity of his people his glory; none more his enemy if he doth the contrary. JOHN WILKES.'

When a noble Lord was carried the other night to Wood-ſtreet Compter, the Watchman, on being aſked the reaſon why he brought him there, ſaid, "that as the other end of the town Gentry impriſoned our Lord-Mayor, he would carry to priſon the greateſt of them all, if he found him acting riotouſly within his juriſdiction."

Yeſterday a lady, near ſixty years of age, in the neighbourhood of Portman Square, was ſerved with a proceſs for crim. con. with a military gentleman about thirty; it is remarkable, that the officer has a wife, an agreeable young lady, and two children.

On Thurſday the conteſt between his Grace the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, and the Grocer's Company, about the right of preſentation to the living of St. Mary le Bow church, Cheapſide, was decided in favour of the latter, by the Court of Common-Pleas. The matter was this: At the great fire of London, Sept. 2, 1666, among others, three churches were burnt down, two of which were in the preſentation of his Grace of Canterbury, and the third, St. Mary le Bow, was in the Grocer's Company: After this the three [illegible] and the Archbiſhop and Grocer's Company were to preſent by turns, i. e. his Grace was to preſent the two firſt times, and the company the third; accordingly his Grace did preſent, but the preſentee getting a Biſhoprick the Crown appointed, virtute dignitatis, a ſucceſſor: This happened three different times; and a vacancy lately happening, his Grace of Canterbury preſented thereto. At this the Grocer's Company entered a demurrer before the Court of Common-Pleas, who found that their Graces of Canterbury having preſented, according to the ſtatute, and that the act of the Crown, in ſubſtituting one man inſtead of another was not to preclude the Grocer's Company from preſenting in their turn, they directed a writ to admit the perſon preſented by the Grocer's Company.

Extract of a letter from Paris, May 29.

"The Chatelet is baniſhed, and the purport of their Letter de Cachet is, that within twenty-four hours after receiving the letter they quit Paris, and do not come within two leagues of it. The Princes of the Blood are ſtill baniſhed the Royal preſence, and indeed ſeem to care little about it. Abbe Terrai totters violently; but what is very certain is, that diſtreſs is at a pitch ſcarcely to be imagined. The emigrations are numerous and continual, particularly in Franche Compte, Lorraine, and Alſatia. A Receiver-General told me the other day, and with aſſurance of his certain knowledge, that the population of all France amounted to about 13 or 14 millions; and that the receipt of the Farmers General was diminiſhed ſince January about 1,200,000 livres a month, and every month decreaſed."

JUNE 18. Yeſterday the managers and directors of the preſent lottery delivered twenty thouſand tickets to the caſhiers of the Bank of England.

A Copy of a Letter from his M------y, to his Grace the Duke of Grafton. "Your abilities in office could be only equalled by your ſpirited ſupport of my government, ſince you reſigned. As the firſt made me regret your quitting my councils, ſo the ſecond, from the motives of gratitude, makes me wiſh to ſee your Grace again in my ſervice. An office of the firſt dignity is become vacant. I deſire your Grace to accept of it; if not as an adequate return from me, at leaſt, as a mark to the public of your approbation of my meaſures. G R."

The King is, at preſent, if we may uſe that expreſſion, his own premier. The great officers of ſtate interfere with nothing --- beyond their reſpective departments.

Lord North never had the ambition of being conſidered as Miniſter; and it now is apparent, that he is not the Miniſter. He may, however, continue long chancellor of the exchequer. He has juſt thirty ſeven poor relations to provide with 500l. per ann. each, at the expence of the public; which, at ſeven years purchaſe, is juſt 180,500l. A ſmall ſum---for his ſervice againſt faction!

Orders are given from the War-office for a ſurvey to be taken of all his Majeſty's land forces in Scotland and Ireland, and a report thereof to be made forthwith.

There are now at Spithead eighteen ſail of the line under the command of Admiral Pye.

Upwards of one thouſand labourers are to be employed at Portſmouth, in repairing and fitting up the fortifications on the Common there.

Orders were ſent laſt week to Ireland for the ſtricteſt guard to be kept to hinder the raiſing recruits by the French and Spaniſh emiſſaries, who are now ſwarming in that kingdom.

The Lord-Mayor when in the chair at the Bill of Rights, moved, that agents might be appointed in every county of the kingdom to inſpect and report to the Society all breaches, relative to entertainments and other ſorts of corrupt influence, previous to election, contrary to the Society's reſolutions in that reſpect; which motion nailed nem. contradicente, but it was not publiſhed amongſt their proceedings at the laſt meeting.

It is pretty certain (ſays a correſpondent) that the preſent Lord-Mayor will be re-elected for the year enſuing; and if Mr. Wilkes ſhould be choſen Sheriff this year, which is moſt probable, the year 1773 may ſee Alderman Wilkes Lord-Mayor of London.

The news of a general Bankruptcy is daily expected from France. That country is as preſent, the ſeat of diſcontent, diſtreſs and poverty.

Letters from many parts of Germany give moſt deplorable accounts of the ſcarcity of proviſions and diſtreſs of the inhabitants. The peaſants of the dutchy of Wurtemberg, and of ſeveral diſtricts in the circles of Bavaria, Swabia, &c. are actually ſaid to experience all the horrors of famine.

Although Mr. Obreſcow, the Ruſſian Miniſter at the Porte, is releaſed, and according to letters from Conſtantinople the Miniſters of the courts of Vienna and Berlin have frequent conferences with thoſe of the Porte, yet the return of peace is not entirely certain. The Imperial and Pruſſian troops continue advancing towards Hungary, where the preparations which are making do not indicate pacific views.

A very extraordinary cauſe is now depending in Doctors Commons, wherein a gentleman, of very conſiderable fortune, in the county of Surry, charges his wife with incontinency; and ſhe exhibits a complaint againſt her huſband for being an hermaphrodite.

This morning at ten o'clock, -------- Taylor, the Scotch Serjeant, was brought up to the court of King's-Bench, on an appeal in the caſe of Smith, of which he had been previouſly convicted of manſlaughter.

After ſeveral learned arguments, the court gave judgment to the following purport: "That upon a review of the whole of the caſe, there ſeemed not to be a clearer one in favour of the defendant in the whole courſe of crown law; that the caſe of Morine and Deering, was no way ſimilar, but that of Armſtrong and Liſle, as laid down by Lord Chief Juſtice Hale was; for which reaſon they were unanimous for having the defendant immediately diſcharged."

Extract of a private letter from the Hague, dated June 7.

"Our politicians were never more puzzled than they are at preſent to form a proper judgment of the turn affairs will take between Ruſſia and the Porte, for though a treaty of pacification has for ſome weeks been talked of as an event that would ſoon take place; the Czarina's demands are conſidered by the Porte as ſo very unreaſonable, that it is poſitively aſſured the Grand Signior has declared that he will not only rather riſque another campaign, rather than ſubmit to them; but if the Ruſſians were abſolutely poſſeſſed of Conſtantinople, he would ſtill reject them. It is generally believed, that though the court of Verſailles will not viſibly appear an auxiliary to the Porte, that ſhe has had ſufficient influence upon the court of Vienna, to engage the Emperor to make the moſt favourable diſpoſitions in favour of the Grand Signior, and that under pretence of preventing incurſions into his territories, he will abſolutely ſecond the operations of the Turks againſt the Ruſſians. It is, indeed, ſaid, that a treaty has been for ſome time upon the carpet between the courts of Vienna and Berlin, whereby is ſtipulated, that an army of obſervation is immediately to be raiſed for the ſecurity of their reſpective territories, but which, it is generally believed by our deepeſt politicians, is indeed deſigned to ſtrip the Czarina of thoſe acquiſitions ſhe has already made, or may hereafter make, upon the Turk. We wait with impatience for the next poſt, from Peterſburgh, which will throw great light upon the preſent critical ſtate of affairs."

Queſtions and Anſwers relative to the NATIONAL DEBT.

Queſt. I. SUPPOSING the national debt to be no more than 130 millions of pounds ſterling, and that it was all to be counted in ſhillings; that a man could count after the rate of 100 ſhillings per minute, for 12 hours each day, till he had counted the whole, in what time could he do it?---Anſ. In 98 years, 316 days, 14 hours, 40 minutes.----Q. II. The SPEECH of the Chancellor MAUPEOUY to the Preſidents and other Judges of the new Courts of France, eſtabliſhed in lieu of the late Court of Parliament.

"Gentlemen, HIS Majeſty depoſes in your hands the moſt noble and the moſt eſſential portion in his power. Judges of his people, he truſts you with the care of watching over the maintenance of public order, and of keeping his ſubjects under the dominion of the laws, in order to ſecure to them that liberty which exiſts only with the law, and only periſhes with them. But this authority which he imparts to you would annihilate itſelf if you ſhould miſtake the ſource of it, and juſtice would ceaſe to be placed in your hands if you were a moment to forget that it was the juſtice of the King, not your own. Seated upon the firſt tribunal of juſtice, you will always render to the King, who placed you there, the moſt pure and faithful homage, and to the people you will give an example of that ſubmiſſion you ſhall exact from them. You will not be, however, the blind and paſſive inſtruments of an abſolute will: His Majeſty would diſdain a ſlaviſh obedience, and would remove from him Magiſtrates who wanted courage to tell him the truth. He will reign only by the laws, and he would diſavow even the laws themſelves, if they diſappointed his views, and proved to be hurtful to his people. After having formed them in the ſecrecy of his wiſdom, he will hearken to your counſel; you will depoſe in his breaſt your uneaſineſſes and fears, the wiſhes and the wants of his ſubjects. But more ambitious of doing good than of appearing to deſire it, you will never lay your remonſtrances a public divulgation, which they ought never to receive. If higher views, and the neceſſity of the empire, do not permit his Majeſty to yield to your ſupplications, you will remember that the duty of advertiſing the ſupreme authority is not the right of oppoſing it; that if the throne is not exempt from being ſurprized into a miſtake, the pureſt zeal doth not guard you from error, and that * Parliaments have ſometimes refuſed their ſuffrage to laws which have conſtituted the happineſs of the people. In ſhort, you will never forget that the functions of your office are a debt from which you cannot free yourſelves, and you will know to ſtop at the point where firmneſs ends and diſobedience begins. Reaſon and the laws place bounds to your reſiſtance; but the goodneſs of the King places none to your petitions. You will always have a free acceſs to the throne whilſt your actions are dictated by reſpect and ſubmiſſion, and his Majeſty will remember like Henry the Great, how to command like a Sovereign, and relent like a father. Theſe, Gentlemen, are to be your ſentiments, your principles, and your duties:

* That is the old Courts of Juſtice.

They muſt be engraven on your hearts, they always were in thoſe in truth Magiſtrates: Never have they been ſullied, but the public felicity hath been impaired, and their perpetuity will be the pledge of the ſafety of the throne, and of the proſperity of the ſtate."

Advice to the PREMIER'S BROTHER, who wants to be a BISHOP.

WOU'D you riſe in the Church? be ſtupid and dull,
Be empty of learning, of inſolence full:
'Tho' lewd and immoral, be formal and grave,
In flatt'ry an artiſt, in fawning a ſlave;
No merit, no ſcience, no virtue is wanting,
In him that's accompliſh'd in cringing and canting.
Be ſtudious to practiſe true meanneſs and ſpirit,
For, believe me, you'll never be mitred for merit.

"FORASMUCH as this realm aboundeth with turbulent and deviliſh ſpirits, who preſume not only to malign me, and my miniſtry, in a moſt inſolent, and traiterous manner, but ſubvert ſome of our oldeſt, and moſt ſerviceable uſages, to the great annoyance of our government; and WHEREAS we are fully appriſed of the fidelity and ſagacity of our truſty and well-beloved, the Rev. John Horne, clerk, We do hereby authoriſe and appoint him, to be one of our chief ſpies, and intelligencers for the cities of London and Weſtminſter, with full power to confer with the enemies of our adminiſtration; and, in caſe of neceſſity, to join with them in their clamours and complaints, in order to gain a more competant knowledge of their evil counſels and deſigns; and WHEREAS the acquiſition of theſe ſecrets, muſt be attended with certain expences---ſuch as public dinners, and public ſubſcriptions; We do hereby authoriſe the ſaid John Horne, clerk, at any time from the date hereof, either in parts, or the whole, to draw upon our treaſury for any ſum he may have occaſion for, provided ſaid ſum or ſums do not exceed five hundred pounds; for which this ſhall be his ſufficient warrant. Given at our Palace, at St. J-------s's, May 28, 1771." ******.

MILES BREWTON.

THE subscriber will sell his TOOBODO PLANTATION, (only reserving a small tract of 200 acres of pine timber) about 28 miles from Charles-Town, containing in the whole 2656 acres, is esteemed as compleat as most in the province, having about 600 acres of good rice land, and so situated, as never to be affected by the greatest rains, and on account of its large reservoirs of back water, the rice seldom or never suffers by the greatest drought; it has a large quantity of good corn land, and great plenty of the best of pine timber. This plantation will answer to be divided, so as to make two good settlements for thirty-five or forty workers on each, and back-water for both, the whole close upon a good landing, and has all necessary buildings, and also a valuable pounding water-machine, which beats out between three and four hundred barrels of rice every year. My only reason for selling it, is my infirm state of health, which will not permit me to tend and inspect a rice plantation as it ought to be, and my unwillingness to divide it between my sons. For one-third of the purchase-money, twelve months credit, with interest, from the time of delivery, would be allowed; and for the remaining two-thirds, three or four years credit, with interest, or good lands approved of by the subscriber, taken in payment. Any person inclinable to make the purchase, may apply and treat with

LANDS FOR SALE,

By public Outcry, at the Vendue-Houſe in Charles-Town, on Tueſday the 5th Day of September next, at 12 o'Clock,

A Tract on ACCABEE, one of the moſt beautifully ſituated country ſeats in this province, not more than ſeven miles from Charles-Town by land, and about the ſame diſtance by water. The whole contains four hundred acres, three hundred of which are in oak and pine wood, the reſt in paſture under fence. The dwelling-houſe on it is of brick, with a large hall and parlour on the ground floor, and a paſſage and ſtairs in an entry between both; there are four bed-chambers above them, excluſive of the garret which has two unfiniſhed rooms. The cellar is very convenient for a kitchen, being built and uſed for that purpoſe. On the ſouth front of the houſe is a new piazza, which overlooks an unimproved garden quite down to the delightful river on which the whole is ſituated. Oppoſite to the houſe and garden, the river is computed to be upwards of a mile wide, and abounds with a variety of fiſh, oyſters, &c. As there is plenty of wood, bricks may be made to advantage, and the number now at the landing will be a ſufficient recommendation of the quality of the clay, &c. Vaſt quantities of lime may likewiſe be burnt, the ſhell banks being very contigious to the landings, and the wood not far to cart.

A Tract at STONO, St. Paul's pariſh, butting and bounding, eaſtward and ſouthward on lands belonging to the eſtate of the late Robert McKewn, Eſq; and lands of James Stanyarne, Eſq; weſtward and northward on lands of Mr. Iſaac Nichols, deceaſed, and Algernon Wilſon, Eſq.

This Tract contains four hundred acres, and is principally adapted for the culture of indico, corn, &c. the ſoil being looſe and fertile, it will alſo anſwer for moſt European grain; about ſeventy acres has been cleared, and a tolerable plantation houſe on it, but being rented out to ſeveral tenants, ſhoemakers, &c. it has been much abuſed, and at preſent is out of repair. It is well timbered with oak and pine, and its diſtance from the public landing at Friend-Town, ſcarce exceeds two miles.

Another Tract at STONO, about a mile nearer the public landing than the above, containing by a re-ſurvey three hundred and ſeventy five acres, butting and bounding north-eaſtwardly on land belonging to William Elliott, Eſq; (called Wiſners;) north-weſtwardly on land belonging to the eſtate of Robert McKewn, Eſq; ſouth-eaſtwardly on lands belonging to Frederick Grimke, Eſq; and ſouth-weſtwardly on lands belonging to Charles Elliott, Eſq. This is a very compact tract, fit for indico, corn and rice; a great part of this ſmall tract is in wood of oak, hickory, and pine, and affords good cooper ſtuff for any of the adjacent rice plantations. On it is a pretty good dwelling-houſe, now rented to Mr. Joſeph Dandridge.

A long credit will be given, if deſired, paying intereſt from the delivery of the titles.

BARNARD ELLIOTT.

It is ſuppoſed they intend for Penpon, where they lately lived, or the Horſe-Shoe, and have carried moſt of their cloaths with them. Cudjoe is an elderly fellow, very artful, and ſuppoſed to have inticed the others away; he has been uſed to the coaſting buſineſs ſouthwardly, and is ſo well known, (as well the others) as to need no further deſcription —— Whoever apprehends the ſaid negroes, and delivers them to the warden of the work-houſe in Charles-Town, ſhall receive a reward of TEN POUNDS currency for each; and upon proof given of the perſon harbouring them, TEN POUNDS if a negro, and TWENTY POUNDS if a white perſon.
